

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

LAW SCHOOL ALUMNI NOTES.

ELIOT WATROUS, EDITOR.

'94.—Midori Komaty was recently appointed secretary of the Japanese legation at Washington, D. C.

'96.—Frederick S. Jackson is now practising law at 154 Nassau Street, New York City.

'97.—The engagement is announced of Miss Margaret Plant, of Macon, Ga., to M. Felton Hatcher. The marriage will take place April 11th.

'97.—Charles G. Morris and H. W. Merwin have entered into a partnership for the general practice of the law with offices at 139 Orange Street, New Haven, Conn.

'99.—Charles T. Russell, Jr., is practising law in New York City at 309 Broadway.

1902.—Frederick L. Vandever is with the law firm of McKeighan & Watts, 805 Union Trust Building, St. Louis, Mo.

Ex-1902.—Burnett Goodwin has left the Law School to join the New York Export and Import Company. He sails for Shanghai, China, on March 30th.